

Environmental Planners

The California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation is seeking environmental planners to assist the Department in its CEQA reviews of prison capacity and other capital improvement projects. We are looking for progressive thinkers who have a passion for solving problems and working with diverse teams of planners, designers, and engineers. If you volunteer for challenging assignments, thrive on making a difference, get excited by the promise of success and are dedicated to professionalism, we'd like to hear from you. Excellent writing, research, interpersonal communication, and time management skills are required.
